SALE DISCONTINUED.

Government Acts on Complaint of Police.

Washington, April 14.—No more will cheap revolutions in neighboring countries be encouraged by the easy manner in which it has been possible to purchase the old arms of the United States. Orders have been issued at the War Department stopping the selling of discarded arms of the United States. It has been reported at various times that revolutionists in Central and South America obtained arms from the United States.

It remained, however for the police of Chicago to complain that the sale of the Old Springfield rifles, recently discarded, was causing trouble for them. That complaint was followed by an order against the sale of the remaining 9,000 rifles by auction. These rifles may be sold to patriotic organizations only.
